

I think the "DO-NOT-CALL" regulations should be even stricter than they are. I still get calls at dinnertime from companies that I have or am doing business with. I don't like getting phone calls from marketers. I read newspapers and magazines and catalogs when I want to buy something. I don't want someone trying to harass me into buying something I have no interest in. Just leave me alone in the refuge of my own home!